DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-22, drawn to a composition comprising plant material, classified in class 424, subclass 725, for example.
- II. Claims 23-26, drawn to a pet food product, classified in class 424, subclass 442, for example.
- III. Claims 27-32, drawn to a process of preparing a nutritional food product, classified in class 426, subclass 481, for example.
- IV. Claims 33-38 and 57-62, drawn to method of reducing the risk of inflammation, classified in class 424, subclass 78.05, for example.
- V. Claims 39-44 and 57-62, drawn to method of reducing the risk of osteoarthritis, classified in class 514, subclass 825, for example.
- VI. Claims 45-50 and 57-62, drawn to method of reducing the risk of autoimmune disease, classified in class 436, subclass 506, for example.
- VII. Claims 51-62, drawn to method of reducing the risk of cancer, classified in class 424, subclass 155.1, for example.

Inventions I -II and IV-VII are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case, there are numerous methods of reducing the risk of the above mentioned diseases (including numerous prescription drugs) that do not require any of the products of Groups I-II. With regards to claims 57-62, they are generic to all methods of treatments and therefore are grouped together in each of the method groups.

Inventions I-II and III are related as a product and process for preparing. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case, there are numerous methods of preparing a nutritional food product that does not require the product of Groups I-II. There are various other plants that can be used in the composition that do not require using the product of Group I.

The several inventions above are independent and distinct, each from the other. They have acquired a separate status in the art as a separate subject for inventive effect and require independent searches (as indicated by the different classification). The search for each of the above inventions is not co-extensive particularly with regard to the literature search. Further, a reference which would anticipate the invention of one group would not necessarily anticipate or even make obvious another group. Finally, the consideration for patentability is different in each case. Thus it would be undue burden to examine all of the above inventions in one application.

Art Unit: 1654

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103, and 112. Until an elected product claim is found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowed product claim will not be rejoined. See "Guidance on Treatment of Product and Process Claims in light of In re Ochiai, In re Brouwer and 35 U.S.C. § 103(b)," 1184 O.G. 86 (March 26, 1996). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, Applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution either to maintain dependency on the product claims or to otherwise include the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the Examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
